We have an extensive RFDS remote first aid kit on board MV Oceanic, whereby we have 24/7 support/advice via satellite phone to RFDS doctors, for any emergency treatment and for access to prescription tablets, treatments, antibiotics etc. We do have trained First Aid Staff onboard at all times and an emergency first aid Kit. However please bring all required medication with you and let staff know where it is kept in case of an emergency situation. If you require emergency RFDS evacuation, if you have an Australian medicare card then this is a free service, unless you have taken out insurance then RFDS will chase your insurer for reimbursement. If you are not an Australian citizen and coming from overseas you will need travel insurance to cover the cost. Cost is approx. $3000 per hour so it is critical you have travel insurance cover. Please check the details carefully on your travel insurance policy as some companies do not cover unlimited evacuations. It is highly recommended to consult your doctor and then purchase sea sickness tablets prior to the charter. This information provided re insurance and emergency evacuation, is to the best of our knowledge true and correct, however as these are 3rd party provider to Ahoy, guests are strongly recommended to do their own due diligence and make their own decisions on insurance coverage, emergency evacuation etc.
